DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims are objected to because of the following informalities:
2. In claims 14, 19, 22 and 23, the equation recites "2" when it should be $--- \leq 2 ---$.
3. In claim 17, line 3, "8 m" should be $- 8 \mu\text{m} ---$.
4. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
6. Claims 13, 14, 18, 19, 21, 22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
7. Dependent Claims 13, 14, 18, 19, 21, 22 and 23 are indefinite because they recite additional alloying elements which are excluded by "consisting of" recited in parent claim 11 or 16.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
9. Claims 11 to 29 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over computer-generated English translation of Japanese patent 2002-226941 to

Art Unit: 1793

Takashi ("JP-941") for the reasons set for in the previous office action dated May 14, 2008.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments filed July 15, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

11. JP-041 teaches high strength steel sheet examples in tables 1 and 2 having a composition and microstructure which meet the recited claims; and when calculated, satisfy the claimed Nb and Ti equation; and are processed in the same manner as recited by the method claims.

12. Even though JP-041 teaches 0.01 to 0.5% V which would be excluded by the recitation "consisting of" in Applicant's claims, such would not be a patentable distinction because it would be obvious for one skilled in the art to omit vanadium and its known function (drawability), when the known function of vanadium (drawability) is not desired or needed. Note that JP-041 in paragraph [0031] teaches Nb and Ti have the same function as V to improve drawability, but Nb and Ti alone without V do not fully improve deep drawability. This teaching appears to replicate Applicant's invention, wherein V is omitted from steel to produce no more than the known and expected effect which is low drawability. Note Applicant's claims recite an average r value as low as 1.2 which is much lower than the r-value range of 1.7 to 1.9 shown by JP-941 examples in table 2.

13. Moreover, it has been held that a known or obvious composition does not become patentable simply because it has been described as somewhat inferior to some other product for the same use, see In re Gurley 27F.3d at 553, 31USPQ2d at 1132.

Art Unit: 1793

14. To distinguish claims over prior art, it is recommended that Applicant amend claims to recite an r-value of at least 1.8. The support for amendment is shown base on example 2 in table 2-1 on page 42 of instant specification. Note that the omission of vanadium with retention of vanadium's function would be indicia of unobviousness.

Conclusion

15. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
